Axxess Leadership Team Bolstered with Clinical, Financial and Marketing Experts

Tammy Ross, David Hoover and Molly Casey Add Healthcare Expertise

DALLAS, January 15, 2019 – Axxess, the fastest-growing home healthcare technology company, continues to add strength to its leadership team with the addition of three healthcare industry leaders.

Tammy Ross, David Hoover and Molly Casey bring clinical, financial and marketing prowess to the company as it continues to lead the industry in innovation. Their experience will position Axxess clients for continued success in 2019 ahead of the evolution of new regulatory requirements, operational efficiency standards, and payment sources in the home health, home care, and hospice sectors.

“The expertise of our new colleagues has energized Axxess with innovative ideas that are enhancing every level of our client experience,” said John Olajide, founder and CEO of Axxess. “Tammy has experience as a home health nurse and a senior corporate leader that makes her uniquely suited to speak to provider clinical needs with other executives. David has the experience and financial management skills to create processes that ensure end-to-end revenue integrity for organizations of any size. Molly is a marketing genius who has a proven track record of executing campaigns and adds tremendous value as we continue to tell our story.”

Tammy Ross serves as the new Senior Vice President of Professional Services for Axxess. She is developing and directing the company’s professional services division with a focus on practical solutions for the post-acute industry by using technology. Prior to joining Axxess, Ross was an executive consultant at Fazzi and Associates, where she used her years of home health leadership experience to assist clients with clinical and operational strategic planning and development

David Hoover is the new Vice President of Revenue Cycle Management for Axxess. He leads the company’s billing and recovery, Electronic Data Interchange (EDI), and Payer

Management services that have processed more than $12 billion in Medicare and managed care claims. Hoover brings experienced leadership in healthcare operations, analytics, and business intelligence in a variety of healthcare settings. In his most recent work at Cotiviti, Hoover developed new processes and systems focused on increased efficiency and quality in auditing, recovery, and development services.

Molly Casey is Axxess' new Vice President of Marketing. She leads the marketing and creative teams at Axxess to increase brand awareness and promote the company's deep bench of thought leaders to the industry. Casey held several senior marketing leadership roles over the course of her career at global brand marketing and events management firm Freeman, which included work for the Healthcare Information and Management Systems Society (HIMSS).

Axxess' senior leadership team continues to add people with unique expertise that empowers healthcare organizations and professionals with the world's best technology solutions. Several Axxess senior leaders, including Olajide and Ross, will engage with other industry leaders at the Home Care 100 Leadership Conference in Scottsdale, Arizona, January 27-30.
