New Executive Hires Add Care at Home Expertise

DALLAS, Texas, June 2, 2021 – Axxess, the leading technology innovator for care at home, has further strengthened its senior leadership team by hiring industry veterans Christopher Taylor and Jeanette Rubio.

“A major priority for Axxess is attracting the best talent,” said John Olajide, founder and CEO of Axxess. “We are a people-first organization and our ability to grow is directly impacted by the caliber of talent we have. With the addition of Chris and Jeanette, our ability to serve our clients and the industry has been taken to the next level.”

Taylor, who brings more than 25 years of leadership experience overseeing sales and marketing organizations and implementation teams, serves Axxess as Vice President of Sales.

Throughout his career Taylor has worked to educate and provide the care-at-home industry with telehealth solutions, improving the quality of care to hundreds of thousands of patients. Taylor will be focusing on educating the entire care-at-home industry on the many clinical, financial and operational benefits Axxess’ complete suite of solutions provides.

“I’m really excited to join such a great organization of outstanding people who are laser-focused on empowering healthcare organizations and professionals with the world’s best technology solutions,” said Taylor. “I look forward to serving Axxess and showcasing the power of what a complete suite of technology can do for the care-at-home industry.”

Rubio, who has been named a Vice President, has long worked in the healthcare technology field, having led client experience initiatives and assisted in organizational sales, product development, marketing and strategic growth.
