

Axxess Announces Hospice Software Integration with Enclara

Partnership Helps Organizations Streamline Hospice and Palliative Care Operations

DALLAS – June 24, 2021 - Axxess, the leading technology innovator for care at home, has integrated its hospice solution with Enclara Pharmacia, the nation's largest full-service pharmacy benefit manager for the hospice and palliative care sectors.

This new software integration aims to improve organizational staff efficiency by offering pharmacists visibility for medication management and reducing the potential for reconciliation errors and redundant demographic and medication-related entries.

“This integration with Enclara saves time for clinicians and administrative staff,” said Tim Ingram, Senior Vice President of Business Development at Axxess. “Time is critical for hospice organizations, and the level of interoperability our partnership provides will support clients in delivering timely, quality care as they grow their business. We are delighted to partner with Enclara to help hospice organizations streamline operations and provide better patient care.”

Through this integration, Axxess Hospice clients can send secure patient updates to inform pharmacists on changes that may impact patient needs. Organizations can also easily manage medication updates and seamlessly input medication data because information automatically flows across the interface and populates claims created in Axxess Hospice. These features enable organizations to decrease costs, ensure compliance and improve patient outcomes.

“Interoperability is an essential element of our strategy to improve hospice workflows and care coordination through technology,” said Scott Quilty, Enclara’s Chief Commercial Officer. “Adding Axxess to our ever-growing list of electronic medical records integrations allows more of our valued hospice clients to realize greater efficiency, particularly when combined with our proprietary E3 patient medication management platform.”

This integration between Axxess Hospice and Enclara Pharmacia is available to Enclara and Axxess clients.
