Axxess and NPHI Partner to Support the Future of Hospice and Advanced Illness Care

DALLAS, October 8, 2026 — Axxess, the leading global technology platform for care in the home, has entered a strategic partnership with the National Partnership for Healthcare and Hospice Innovation (NPHI), the leading voice for nonprofit hospice and advanced illness care providers, as an NPHI Executive Partner. The partnership is designed to help organizations deliver high-quality, patient-centered care while navigating a rapidly changing healthcare environment.

The partnership brings together Axxess' technology expertise and NPHI's leadership in advancing compassionate, community-based care to create opportunities for education, collaboration and industry engagement that support providers serving patients and families.

"Providers are being asked to do more while keeping patients at the center of every decision," said John Olajide, founder and CEO of Axxess. "By partnering with NPHI, we can help hospice and advanced illness care organizations gain access to the insights, technology and connections they need to strengthen care delivery and prepare for the future."

"We are thrilled to collaborate closely with Axxess as a valued Executive Partner of NPHI," said Tom Koutsoumpas, Founder and CEO of NPHI. "Their technology expertise and commitment to innovation will bring valuable perspectives to our community as we work together to equip nonprofit hospice and advanced illness care providers with new ideas and solutions that strengthen care for patients and families."
